JAMES AND JEN CHO

Calgary, Alberta

Of Calgary's population of 1.4 million people, only 5.2 percent claim to believe in Jesus Christ. The spiritual need in the city is great, and one particular couple noticed a need for a multicultural church in their community.

James and Jen Cho saw that several of their neighbors did not fit neatly into any cultural box because of their diverse ethnic backgrounds.

So, the couple started reaching out to these families and to other neighbors who didn't have a relationship with Jesus. They connected with fifteen to twenty different families, many of them nonbelievers. As a result of various events where they were able to interact with families and share the Gospel with them, several have joined their church.

THE COOPERATIVE PROGRAM is the financial fuel for reaching every person for Jesus Christ in every town, every city, every state, and every nation. Your support through the Cooperative Program enables mission work like the outreach that James and Jen Cho have been conducting in Calgary.

PRAY for James and Jen to have wisdom as they navigate ministering to their ethnically diverse neighbors and that Calgary will continue to be influenced with the Gospel of Jesus.
