JOHN AND LOIS WANG

Americas

IMB missionaries John and Lois Wang want to reach university students in Buenos Aires, Argentina, for Christ. However, access to students in Argentina is not easy. University officials restrict people from campus who are not affiliated with the school.

In order to interact with students, John and Lois became professors. Through their teaching positions, they build authentic relationships that lead to witnessing opportunities. Teaching provides a strategic platform for connecting students to the transforming love of Christ.

The Wangs also help mobilize Argentine churches for student work including demonstrating college ministry to churches by building up a campus ministry, challenging churches to build their own collegiate ministries, and building a network of churches involved in campus ministry.

THE COOPERATIVE PROGRAM is the financial fuel for reaching every person for Jesus Christ in every town, every city, every state, and every nation. Your support through the Cooperative Program gives missionaries like the Wangs the resources they need to make a difference in the lives of individual students, as well as in the mobilization of churches.

PRAY for the Wangs as they share the Gospel with students and that Argentine churches will continue to be mobilized to reach more college students for Christ.
